

THE SMART CARD, MICROSOFT & THE FUTURE CHILD.

ALL IS IN PLACE NOW FOR THE SMART CARD TECHNOLOGY TO INTRUDE INTO EVERY PERSONAL AREA OF EVERY GLOBAL CITIZEN'S LIFE. CHILDREN WILL

HAVE ALL DETAILS OF THEIR SKILLS, EDUCATION, HEALTH AND FAMILY BACKGROUND ON SMART CARDS, COMPUTERS WILL BE USED TO MAKE THE SMART CARD INFORMATION ACCESSIBLE TO SOCIAL MANIPULATORS - THEN WE WILL SEE THE "MARK" EMERGING AS A "BETTER" WAY TO CONTROL THE MASSES. NOTE IN THE FOLLOWING QUOTES THAT INTERNET CAN BE USED WITH AN IMPLANT UNDER THE SKIN FOR FINANCIAL TRANSACTIONS.

THESE FEW QUOTES FROM VARIOUS INVESTIGATORS WILL GIVE OUR READERS SOME OF THE PICTURE, 1998 STYLE

"If one looks at the National Skills Standards Board's website under 'Skill Standard Related Links: International,' one finds 'Smartcards Project Forum.' Then when this Forum is accessed, one finds that 'The Tavistock Institute [of Human Relations] and the European Commission are working on a feasibility study to research the affect of using SMART CARDS in competence accreditation. The study was carried out in the USA and parts of Europe.'

The Tavistock Institute of Human Relation (TIHR) was founded in 1947 with a grant from the Rockefeller Foundation, which was interested in seeing if the kind of social psychiatry that had been developed during World War II could be relevant for the civilian society. Prior to this time, the Tavistock Institute of Medical Psychology (TIMP) had been founded in 1920. It was involved in psychotherapy, and John Rawlings Rees (who would be a co-founder of the World Federation for Mental Health in 1948) was its deputy director....

While Huxley's 'Brave New World' is a frightening place to imagine, what is even more unsettling is the recognition that in at least one respect, parents today are even worse than those depicted in Huxley's novel. In Huxley's book, the parents honestly (but mistakenly) believe that their children are being cared for by 'expert' caregivers. Today, however, many parents place their children in daycare, knowing their children will not receive the best of care there. What does this say about society today?

What it says is that we seem to be obsessed by 'convenience,' as children are aborted on the 'altar' of social convenience,' and we are primed to accept the convenience of Smart Cards which will contain not only educational information about people, but other information as well. In an article that described digital cash crossing national boundaries, TIME magazine of April 27, 1998 stated:

'A single electronic card like this [picture of an Omnicard] may replace everything in your wallet, including .. your ID cards...[In the] future, non-conspiracists could consolidate pertinent info [vital health data, etc] in one place.... You can send money [to your daughter] over Internet encoded in an E-mail instead of sending a cheque.... Your daughter can store the money any way she wants...(even in the not too distant future) on a chip implanted under her skin.'...To gain total control over mankind, one would have to be able to monitor people, their whereabouts, what skills they could offer to society, etc. And to do that, one would have to have Smart Cards, implanted computer chips, skills 'passports' to obtain employment, etc. And one can see how we appear to be in the early stages of that process.'

(DR D.L CUDDY. PH.D. USA).

"All these pieces of legislation give America an educational and workforce bureaucracy that resembles Hillary's healthcare bureaucracy. Under Hillary and Ira Magaziner's education plan the government will:

1) Give every student a new diploma called a certificate of mastery or smart card. The smart card which is already being given to students in Ohio and Nevada contains a computer chip that contains a cumulative record of the student's grades, attendance, proficiency, test scores, extra-curricular activities, athletics and other accomplishments. By the time the student graduates the card should contain all the pertinent information a prospective employer needs about the applicant. All employers would ask to see the smart card and preference would be given to those with good performance. Students who meet the government's standards and receive the smart card or certificate of mastery will be rewarded with further education and good jobs." (TIMOTHY AHO, USA).

"While looking over the files included on the Windows 98 CD, I noticed a folder called 'SCARD.' I soon realised that the 'Scard' folder contains a program which will be used to interface 'SMARTCARD' readers with a PC. The 'readme' file included in the 'SCARD' folder is titled 'Microsoft Win32 Smart Card Base Components.'

It states:

'Welcome to the Beta-3 release of the Microsoft Smart Card Base Components. This release provides the necessary files needed to enable smart card aware application(s) or service provider(s) to communicate with a smart card through a reader attached to a PC and its corresponding device driver.

This software does not provide any smart card reader hardware or drivers. To obtain smart card readers, contact reader manufacturers directly and request their PC/SC compliant reader and drivers for Windows.'... Microsoft, Corp., is one of the major forces working to speed up the transition to 'Smartcards' as the primary tool for buying and selling - certainly, at least, for all purchases made over Internet. And the fact that the Smartcard reader connection utility is now an integral part of what will soon be the world's primary PC operating system, (Windows 98), makes it almost certain that Smartcard readers will eventually become another common household item. It is also apparent that biometrics will necessarily be incorporated into the Smartcard readers for user verification and transaction authorisation."

(D.M. JOHNS - "THE LIGHT.")

SURVIVING THE TESTING BY FIRE

"I can't go on! The life I am living is so distressing at times! I can hardly believe I am going through so much."

The "Remnant" Church of Jesus Christ is having a hard time, not only in this country but around the world. The Lord is calling His faithful people to stand up and be counted. This means, even at this stage in the Last Days, that there is persecution, ridicule, rejection and suffering happening to many of these honest, sincere and plucky Christians. The majority of Christendom and society at large do not want to hear another word about conspiracies, apostasies, ecumenism, the New World Order or the Tribulation coming. They prefer "nice" talk, "happy" sermons, fun and church games, making money and going on holidays. Where does this leave the alarmed, concerned Christian whose eyes are opened by the Lord? It leaves them watching in horror as the Plan of Satan floods on. They are like people who know that a mud-slide is about to obliterate a town, but the residents refuse to believe and say "let's keep dancing" - on to their destruction. Or like Noah warning of the flood, or Lot warning of the destruction of Sodom and Gomorrah. Painful isn't it?

We Christians have always warned, to many deaf ears. The elderly who are facing eternity will often reject all attempts to get them to repent and accept Christ as Saviour; the godless youth who are warned not to take drugs, and end up killing themselves in cars and plummeting into hell at an early age; the immoral are warned of their end, but die of AIDS cursing God! How are you honestly handling this crisis period in Church History? Perhaps you will identify with two of the questions Christians often ask us, and we ask of God ourselves.

QUESTION:

"What am I going to do now? I have shared articles, documents and critiques with my pastor and others in our church, showing them all about the terrible things that are going on, but they take no notice. I pray for them, give them details about such awful movements as Promise Keepers and the Alpha Course, the fake revivals and the New Age Bible versions, yet they just go right ahead and ignore what I give them. I show them the details of the emerging New World Order, even in our own country, and they either make no comment at all about the papers I give them, or they tell me to be quiet about it, quite aggressively. What will I do?"

ANSWER:

"We have to go straight to the Lord's Word here. There are principles clearly set down for our instruction, which we must obey. The first is Titus 3:10.11:

"A man that is a heretick after the first and second admonition reject; Knowing that he that is such is subverted, and sinneth, being condemned of himself."

The Titus scripture shows that we should not keep on and on warning, exhorting, trying to urge the same people to come to their senses. Yes, we feel like shaking folks at times, but it will do no good whatsoever. The person who does not "see" the terrible events of this present crisis does not want to know. He/she is "subverted," "sinneth" and is "condemned of himself." That is, they have ulterior motives for being so "dense", they want popularity, their cushy jobs, the respect of their superiors in the denomination, lots of reasons only God and they know of. They are blinded judicially by the Lord, yes, but He is responding to those people's own desires, they may well understand in their heart of hearts, so they are "condemned of" themselves. Some people are just sincerely confused, yet would they be if they were living close to the Lord? How many times we should warn and exhort is given as well in Titus, "first" and "second admonition" - twice only, and then "reject" them. Hard words? No, God knows best. He does not want you to break your heart over unwilling hearers. Leave them to Him. Warn others, who will listen. Be diligent in prayer!

W. B. HOWARD

There could well be legitimate (?) reasons why a pastor might consider the global news of the Last Days to be unacceptable to his church. He could be of that mind on the matter which is afraid to "rock the boat." He sees various people in his church who would find anything "controversial" or "confronting" decidedly upsetting. Pastors may put "church-building" as top priority in their scheme of things. Families being settled in a home church, catering spiritually for needy ones who do not want "heavy" controversy. It is like building a business in a sense, no business man wants to bring matters into his business which may drive people away. We ourselves know that every time we put some item in Despatch, we could offend someone who will cancel their subscription, or just simmer away until the subs are due, and then never subscribe again. We have to weigh up whether we will be faithful to God's call, or count the cost and withhold some item. Thus far, we have chosen to obey God's call, pray that we will stay strong in Him. We have lost many because we "say it like it is."

The second scripture is II John 7-11:

"For many deceivers are entered into the world, who confess not that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh. This is a deceiver and an antichrist. Look to yourselves, that we lose not those things which we have wrought, but that we receive a full reward. Whosoever transgresseth, and abideth not in the doctrine of Christ, hath not God. He that abideth in the doctrine of Christ, he hath both the Father and the Son. If there come any unto you, and bring not this doctrine, receive him not into your house, neither bid him God speed: For he that biddeth him God speed is partaker of his evil deeds."

This scripture deals with the attitude and action we should have against severe apostasy. A "heretic" can be seen as a person who is deceived, who is mistaken. An "apostate" is more, one who deliberately deceives others, knowing quite well what he does. The Bible teaches we are not to keep company with leaders or believers like that, we cannot have them in our houses, we cannot "bid him God speed" i.e. wish them well, or encourage them in any way. We should never break bread with them in communion, or attend their churches! The verses above deal with an apostate who does not believe in the incarnation of Christ, that He was God come in the flesh. This scripture would apply to JW's, many of the "modern" ministers of religion who are trained in seminaries of these sad days, and "Christian" cults generally. The church you attend could well be one that you shouldn't be in at all! If it is severely apostate, then the Bible says "get out." (Compare II Corinthians 6:14-18).

QUESTION:

"I do not feel a part of anything any more! I have no church now, no "party" to call my own. I will not compromise. I do not fit in to what is going on in the world, I cannot be involved with all this "unity" business, ecumenism or globalism. I reject many things these days, so much around me is New Age. I seem to be losing interest in this world, I do not value what other people do. I have few friends who understand my alarm about global events, my family thinks I am overboard. But in all this, I cannot work with the "Christian" political activists, I do not believe they have the answers. I know the Rapture is soon coming, but do not want to just drop out of life. How do I cope in this tension between waiting for Jesus Christ and living out my life on earth?"

ANSWER:

"This could well be the Remnant's "finest hour." It is alright to say we would die for the Lord and our faith, but it is much harder to LIVE for the Lord and the Faith of Jesus Christ. We are encountering the demise of true Christianity in a sense, although soon it will be obvious that Jesus Christ was and is the Son of God, and the King of kings who will set up His reign on the earth. He will come again, and His enemies will be know all right! For now it is a matter of being willing to be rejected, ignored, ridiculed, and separated from all that is false and deceiving. We are "dying" to the acclaim of men, "dying" to the popularity and prosperity of the world, "dying" to the ideas of those who imagine that "Christianity" will set up a kingdom of its own in these days (Kingdom Now) - and we are certainly "dead" to the unity of the globalists and the scams of this New Age!

An interesting E-mail came from the UK (Tricia Tillin) recently on this subject, which I will share here with our readers:

"I want to share a few thoughts on our destiny as a Body. You know that the emphasis these days, almost universally, is upon victory, triumph, success, revival, renewal, restoration - rulership in effect. Suddenly this struck me as just the situation Jesus Christ had to AVOID when he first came to earth. Though he were the Prince of Peace, Son of God, yet he was not prepared to be bullied, coerced or manipulated into becoming the people's popular champion beforetime.

Just think how much he could have changed in this fallen world, if he'd put his undoubted spiritual powers to work, as the people expected. He could have ENDED poverty, sickness, even death if he chose to do so. His Father commanded him to serve and to humble himself, even unto death - and that is precisely what he did. Though of course we can never enter into the mind of Christ fully, and know what he suffered, there must have been terrible forces pulling him towards "doing good". Given his love for mankind, his power, and his mission, he must have been sorely tempted to force the world into line, and impose "righteousness" upon it.

How difficult it must have been for his disciples to accept that Jesus would not, could not, act according to the "natural" inclinations of man, and change the world for good, simply because it was possible and desirable in a certain kind of way. How difficult it must have been to see their messiah walk away from the adoring crowds, choose humility and seclusion, submit himself to the conquering Romans and apostate Jews!!

I can sympathise with them, that for most of Jesus' life they "could not understand" what Jesus was saying, promising or doing. They followed him by faith, which is why Jesus commended them. They of course wanted to see victory, power, righteousness, and blessing just as men do today.

This obsession with "bringing in the kingdom" that has led to so much craziness today, is similar to the desire of the Jews in Jesus's day. (And the same selfishness is behind it, for men love to rule and have the pre-eminence.)

We understand now, in hindsight, that Jesus came to offer himself as a sacrifice for sin. He HAD to accept death on that Cross because there was no other way to atone for the sins of mankind. If he had taken the kingdom by force, or allowed himself to be put into power by the people, He would have "done good" but not achieved the redemption of sinners.

But isn't that the situation we have all around us? The Church is set on forcing mankind to become law-abiding, church-going, "good" people, through the same route of power, victory, blessing. But they avoid or overlook altogether the matter of sin, and the need for justification. They marginalise the promise of eternal blessing, and look only to the earthly realm.

All this you know. But I wanted to take this one step further - and here I may be entirely wrong. Yet think about this and let me know what you see in scripture yourselves.

Surely it is indicated in scripture that we will walk on earth the same path as our Lord, for the servant is not above his master. Surely the promise of reigning is dependent upon our "suffering with him"?

He would not reign on earth without first reigning in heaven. And that meant on earth He had to take the opposite path to that expected of Him, and die. Thus He could rise in glory and take His seat at the right hand of power. But only then.

He promises that we shall reign with him, as co-heirs of the kingdom. So is it feasible to expect that we have to go the same route?

We believers are his Body on earth. I

DISCERNING OF SPIRITS?

The Bible gift of "discerning of spirits" (1 Cor. 12:10) is often thought of as a gift which enables the Christian to uncover evil supernatural activities in other peoples lives. Or to be able to sense false, counterfeit spirits at work in a "revival" or meeting. Such as being aware that the Toronto "blessing" was NOT of the Spirit of God, but rather of the deceiver of men's souls, from the devil! Discerning of spirits is a gift that gives such awareness and insight, true, but can we consider here that it can be much more than this?

"Discerning of spirits" as a gift from God can also operate in relation to DOCTRINAL matters. The Holy Spirit has given us the Holy Scriptures, the Holy Spirit works to open those Scriptures to the believer as well. The deceiver of men's minds can act supernaturally upon the Truth as given by God in the Word. New versions of the Bible texts in our own day are heavily activated by evil spirits in the employ of Satan. Just as the real Bible is a spiritual book, with supernatural life from God, so the new versions are supernaturally activated by the spirits of Antichrist.

Who can uncover these deceptions fully, we are just human beings? Add to that as well, that we are being flooded with teachers, books, videos, tapes and visions which are not of God, but are presented as though these are really Christian, and are God's Truth. What is needed for every one is wisdom from the Lord, sound Bible knowledge (study the Word) - and discerning of spirits, in a doctrinal sense.

Ask God to give you His gift of discerning of spirits, for this wonderful gift will be invaluable to you in today's crazy world of DOCTRINAL delusion. "Follow after charity, and desire spiritual gifts..." (1 Cor. 14:1a).

exceeding joy. If ye be reproached for the name of Christ, happy are ye; for the spirit of glory and of God resteth upon you: on their part he is evil spoken of, but on your part he is glorified."

am not preaching the Pattern So here - for that leads to heresy - but I am saying that in large part the walk and experiences of the Body on earth are those of our Lord, who suffered and died. This could explain much of our present position and suffering, and it could lead us to see a much more positive aspect of it - that it is actually ordained to lead us through a kind of "death" to glory.

Jesus died physically of course - we may be called to do the same. But even if not, the Body (the true Body) is "dying" on earth right now. While large portions of the professing Church are working for revival, renewal, and restoration, a small portion are seeing the inevitability of persecution and rejection instead. As well as this, the scriptures do not appear to allow for a triumphant march into victory and world-changing restoration before Jesus returns, quite the reverse. So this clash of ideals in itself leads to friction and eventually will lead to much more overt forms of persecution, as the stakes are raised.

(Oops, I just realised as I wrote that last phrase that it could be literal stakes as well!! A Freudian slip?)...

Jesus passed through that dark night, and that night seems also to have reflections in scripture for us. Jesus indicated that the master would not return to the household as soon as expected, and that it would be a long wait counting off the watches of the night. The maidens holding their lamps all fell asleep while waiting for the Bridegroom in the dark. Jesus calls himself the "thief in the NIGHT". The Exodus took place at the "midnight cry". And so forth.

While the world cries "peace, peace", and the Church cries "revival" we see something else in scripture; something more dark and challenging. So did Jesus on earth, and he set his face as a flint to go up to Jerusalem and the Cross.

My only objection to the concept of our passing through "death" before we can take our place at the side of our Lord in glory, is that Jesus HAD to die to atone for sin. That is now done, and we cannot add to it. Many would argue that, once having died, Jesus brought us into new life never to die again, having suffered FOR us. This I admit is a strong and valid objection.

However, on the other hand, this attitude gets completely out of hand in some circles and leads to triumphalism, where nothing whatever of this earth is supposed to afflict us! We can testify that that doctrine is wrong.

Jesus died "leaving us an example". That example seems to be, amongst other things, that the path to rule and glory and sanctification is not the one that humanity commonly seeks or desires, and is not won without tribulation.

It is through much tribulation that we enter into glory. It is only by sharing the sufferings of Christ that we reign with him. So there is obviously a balance here between knowing our liberation from sin and the devil, and knowing the need to humble ourselves and tread where Jesus trod.

If the servant is not greater than his master, then how can WE expect on earth to achieve more, and more easily, than HE did? Our works might "be greater" but only in essence, not in result.

So in conclusion what I am learning from this is to be more confident and encouraged, that what we are experiencing is not some terrible disaster or aberration, or something caused by our failure or lack of obedience (not that I thought that anyway!) but just the inevitable outworkings of HIS plan for our destiny. We are actually in the centre of his will.

II Timothy 2:11-13 "It is a faithful saying: For if we be dead with him, we shall also live with him: If we suffer, we shall also reign with him: if we deny him, he also will deny us: If we believe not, yet he abideth faithful: he cannot deny himself."

Philippians 3:10-11 "That I may know him, and the power of his resurrection, and the fellowship of his sufferings, being made conformable unto his death; If by any means I might attain unto the resurrection of the dead."

1 Peter 4:13-14 "But rejoice, inasmuch as ye are partakers of Christ's sufferings; that, when his glory shall be revealed, ye may be glad also with

BENJAMIN NETANYAHU, WHO IS HE?

DESPATCH:

In an article in "Shalom Update" dated January-March, 1998, Netanjahu, Prime Minister of Israel, is presented as a much-maligned man, who is just doing his job. "Shalom Update" urges prayer for this man. As usual, this newsletter of Celebration Shalom has gotten hold of the wrong end of the stick! Netanyahu is, and has always been, a mere puppet of the NWO, a horrifying counterfeit figure who has nothing but evil intentions on his mind. It is high time people in Australia faced the facts about Netanyahu, and stopped this nonsense about him being some sort of Godly man. Here are just a few facts about Benjamin Netanyahu:

"THE ANTICHRIST & A CUP OF TEA" by Tim Cohen .

PAGES 403, 404 AND 405.

"Benjamin Netanyahu - an unpredictable pawn in the grip of the New World Order."

"Netanyahu is similarly influenced by the Committee of 300, which, it would appear, has attempted to groom him as a political Trojan horse."

"The media too latched onto Netanyahu, who received much positive press, both before and during the 1991 war against Iraq, in the Washington Post, the New York Times, and Newsweek, as well as on CNN - all of which, interestingly enough, are controlled by the U.S. CFR. (Ted Turner, owner of CNN is now also a member of the Committee of 300). Chamish comments, "Once in new York in 1984, CFR-affiliated media such as CNN, the New York Times, Washington Post, Newsweek and CFR members [Ted] Koppel and [Larry] King turned Netanyahu into a major political figure; so much so that George Schultz became a close friend." Netanyahu's prestige and publicity further increased when he then organized a second conference on terrorism in Washington D.C., which Schultz chaired."

"From 1994 to 1996, Netanyahu participated in at least six secret meetings with Jordan's King Hussein and Crown Prince Hassan, along with Mishcon, in London. These meetings - arranged by Dore Gold, who was a Netanyahu delegate to the Madrid Peace Conference - began at least a year before Netanyahu was elected Prime Minister. Even as Rabin and Arafat signed the Oslo II accord, Netanyahu refused a Likud pledge to cancel it; that is, at the same time that Netanyahu was denouncing the accords publicly and in the Likud, he was also recognizing them as legitimate."

FOOTNOTE FROM COHEN: MASONS OF PEACE.

Following Rabin's assassination, the grand master of the Grand Lodge of Israel, Ephraim Fuchs, published advertisements "mourning the passing of 'a brother,'" Netanyahu too is reported to be a Mason, supposedly having been recruited while serving as Israel's ambassador to the United Nations in New York...Also, Teddy Kollek, the current Mayor of Jerusalem, is said to be a mason. In May 1996, Tel Aviv police raided an apartment reportedly "used for ceremonies by the Freemasons, an organization whose membership boasts cabinet ministers and high ranking army officers," the apartment's "walls were covered in Latin script, skulls and bones graced the shelves, and crossed swords were mounted above and beside an altar." Fuchs, providing some interesting disinformation, later "claimed that the apartment was rented by a cult called the Illuminati, which had nothing to do with Freemasonry." HA! According to Chamish, "The Masonic plan for the region is a well-kept secret, but Jerusalem is known to be especially important for the organization, as it traces its origins to the mythical Hiram (Abiff), the mason wrongly believed to have been the planner of Solomon's Temple." (Traitors and Carpetbaggers in the Promised Land p.p.60,103-103, 167-170). Kah observes that Syria's Hafez Assad, like Jordan's Hussein, is reputed to be a Mason."

ISRAEL IN THE NEWS

by Allen Woodham

SOUTH EAST CHRISTIAN WITNESS ~

SOUTH AUST. FEB. 1997...

ALLENWOO@DOVE.MTX.NET.AU

EDITOR'S NOTE:

World focus has been on the nation of Israel in recent days as an historic peace accord was reached with the PLO over the district of Hebron. The PLO leader Arafat now claims they are determined to press on to claim Jerusalem. Will they succeed? And why has Israel capitulated so easily in this recent situation? Further to this it now appears that Israel's Prime Minister is in serious trouble politically over corruption matters.

I recently received the following report which appears to answer these queries and many more besides. Clearly there is much intrigue occurring in the events of this tiny land. This report originated via a source in Tel Aviv which remains nameless for obvious reasons. What is stated in this report is very plausible and quite revealing indeed...

THE SECRET LIFE OF BINYAMIN NETANYAHU

Even within the conventional story, it is clear that Netanyahu was groomed for leadership by the Council On Foreign Relations (CFR) in New York. In 1979, twenty-seven year old Netanyahu called a conference on terrorism and the ruling elite of the CFR, Bush, Shultz and Perle answered to his summons.

One word will suffice: why?

Yoni Netanyahu was undoubtedly a martyr but far from the only one in Israel. He was not such a powerful symbol that the CFR would send a delegation of its biggest guns, including CIA director Bush to his unknown brother's get-together.

Netanyahu's decision to quit his lucrative Boston job is almost inexplicable. Netanyahu sought a highpaying job at a prestigious consulting firm yet not two months later, he gave it up to fly back to Israel and sell sofas. He was barely settled in back home when he decided to organize an anti-terrorism conference and invite the most powerful people in Washington to attend.

It is possible that Netanyahu was told to quit his job, return to Israel and arrange the conference. Perhaps there is a connection to the fact that a year later Shultz made fighting terrorism a first priority of the Reagan administration and that Vice-President Bush was appointed to head a front for illegal covert activities called The Anti-Terror Task Force.

Arens' offer of a deputy ambassadorship to salesman Netanyahu made no political sense. Israeli diplomatic aides and deputies typically rise slowly through the Foreign Ministry bureaucracy. They are not thrust into the second highest position at the most vital embassy in the world. It is far from impossible that Arens was directed to bring in Netanyahu by the very people in the Reagan administration who attended his conference three years earlier.

Once in New York in 1984, CFR-affiliated media such as CNN, the New York Times, Washington Post, Newsweek and CFR members Koppel and King turned Netanyahu into a major political figure; so much so that George Shultz became a close friend. We again ask the succinct question: years Netanyahu's senior, find so amusing about the Israeli UN Ambassador that he had to pay him a courtesy call every time he flew to New York? In 1985, Shultz chaired another Netanyahu -organized conference on terrorism, this time in Washington. The resulting publicity and prestige was a significant factor in Netanyahu's fast-rising political career. Clearly, the Secretary -of-State had a major stake in Netanyahu's future. Which means, so did George Bush.

All that can be concluded from the conventional story. What then do we make of Bibi's secret life?

In 1987, Netanyahu applied for credit using his American social security number 020364537. With that number, he or someone else made the application under a phony name, John Sullivan, living at a false address in Northern California.

Netanyahu used Sullivan's name to borrow money during 1987-88. John Sullivan does not exist, nor does Netanyahu's credit file. Israeli and American reporters who tried to dig into Netanyahu's past using his social security number discovered two other phony names used to apply for credit in 1987-88 but were perplexed to find that his credit records were completely removed. Only someone very high up in the American government could have authorized the erasing of the file.

We return to the all-purpose question: why? Again, no one who knows is talking. What is nearly certain is that while Netanyahu was the UN Ambassador, he was either defrauding a credit company or on an assignment involving money that required three identity changes.

Then there is Netanyahu's close relationship with Congressman Ben Gillman, head of the House Committee On International Relations. The problem here is that Gillman was also a close associate of Shabtai Kalmonovitch and shared business deals with him in Africa. Kalmonovitch was, not long after, imprisoned in Israel as a KGB spy. This is not to imply that Netanyahu was involved in spying, only that his closest ally in Congress has mighty strange intelligence ties to Israel.

And what to make of the mystery of Netanyahu's housing? Before he was even the leader of the Likud, two foreign businessmen, Jack Mandel of Australia and Sandy Eisenstadt of the US each paid about $750,000 to buy Netanyahu luxury apartments in Tel Aviv and Jerusalem. Again, no one has a clue why. There is speculation that part of the reason may be Eisenstadt's stake in an Israeli oil exploration company, a shady and hidden business, but no concrete connection has been discovered by the Israeli media.

Netanyahu's penchant for secrecy is not subtle. It is well-known among the Israeli media that he had conducted a number of secret meetings with the Jordanian royal family in London and Amman before he became prime minister. Even the conventional Jerusalem Post reported in mid-June that six secret meetings were held in the past two years. But when Inside Israel, just before the elections, asked Netanyahu to comment on the meetings he denied they had ever taken place.

Perhaps the most secret and worrying ties concern what is supposedly Ahronot relates how Netanyahu wooed a local Likud leader. "He was invited by Netanyahu to a meeting in his office at Systematics in Ramat Gan. The head of the company, Oded Levental is a candidate for a financial post in the new government."

Systematics is at the core of serious research by American alternative publications, including the usually reliable Media Bypass. In short, the allegations are that the National Security Agency had handed Systematics stolen software called Promis that opened a trap door to the world's secret banking transactions. About 250 Americans, mostly politicians, had their illegal foreign accounts emptied of over $3.5 billion in the operation. It is claimed that Colin Powell dropped out of the presidential race after his account electronically vanished. Leading figures in the operation included George Bush, Caspar Weinberger and two Arkansas attorneys, Vince Foster Jr. and Hillary Rodham Clinton on behalf of Clinton financier Jackson Stephens. The research invariably concludes that Foster was murdered because he knew too much about the scam.

A leading investigative writer, Sherman Skolnick, writes:

"Some contend Systematics is an NSA proprietary and spies on banks overseas. Can Systematics rightfully deny spying actually done by buffers or cut-outs between Systematics and NSA? Systematics, through a spokesperson, vigorously denies Foster assisted it in any spying on foreign banks but remains apparently silent on whether Hillary Rodham Clinton assisted Systematics in some nefarious activities."

Is it fair to ask why Systematics provided Netanyahu office space and if this was the sum total of its involvement with him?

Since taking office, Netanyahu has fueled fears of international control by his actions within Israel's tiny anti-NWO community. They were most intrigued by his refusal to give Ariel Sharon a sensitive cabinet post. One possible reason is fear of Sharon's own intelligence arm in the US. Then for those people who fervently hoped that he would rid himself of any connections to the Arye Deri scandal, with all its implications of money laundering and perhaps murder, Netanyahu appointed as his Justice Minister, Yaacov Neeman, a lawyer who is currently being investigated for intimidating a key witness against Deri in a London trial.

But the topper was Netanyahu's decision to allow Yaacov Frenkel to run the country's economy single-handedly. Frenkel worked for the World Bank between 1971-1990. After nineteen years away from "home" Frenkel was unexpectedly appointed head of the Bank of Israel.

His policies mirrored the world-wide debt program of his previous employer documented by numerous researchers. The plan involves raising interest rates beyond what the public or industry can afford, and forcing the government to borrow lots of money from American banks to keep the populace pacified. When the debts have to be repaid from an empty treasury, the International Monetary Fund bails out the country with schemes guaranteed to impoverish the people. ŠFrenkel was a proponent of Israel borrowing $10 billion in loans guaranteed by the American government and he kept his interest rates as high as he could in the face of opposition from then Finance Minister Avraham Shohat who suspected Frenkel, "was playing politics with the Bank of Israel."

Binyamin Netanyahu, the man who inside Israel hoped would save Israel from the NWO puppet regime of Peres, appointed Yaacov Frenkel to be his Minister of Finance. The only thing that prevented the disaster was party opposition to an appointee who had never publicly supported the Likud.

Dan Meridor got the post instead. But as the Maariv headline read: "Meridor Will Act, Frenkel Will Lead." On his first day in office Meridor announced that his policy would be to lower the standard of living in Israel. Not a week later, Frenkel raised the interest rates by a whopping 1.5% with Meridor's "approval."

Something is going on behind the scenes at the CFR. While Secretary of State Warren Christopher must appear to be opposing Likud government policies to keep the Arabs in line, the former CFR director is playing some kind of double game with Netanyahu.

King Hussein made his accommodation with Netanyahu well before the elections and refused to support Peres during the campaign. Netanyahu's victory clearly delighted him and on the surface, why not? The last thing he would want is a PLO state on his border with control of the Moslem holy sites. In time, it will become clearer what Netanyahu promised the King during the secret London meetings. Included, most assuredly, will be Jordanian hegemony over the Temple Mount.

There has been a transformation in Israel but the CFR is still running the latest prime minister. And that is a good reason for intense fear about Israel's future.

In the Gospel of Luke Ch. 21:29-32, Jesus said that the generation of people who saw the fig tree and all the other trees budding would be the generation that would witness the judgement of God, which was described earlier throughout Ch. 21. The fig tree, which can be found in Mark 11:12-15 and Luke 13:6-9 and 22, in these parables He describes His coming to Israel and His journey to Jerusalem and finding only a showy display of phony religion lacking true faith. Fig trees bare their fruit before they are full of leaves and this will be Israel's fruitless condition again after they rebuild their Temple in Jerusalem. One can read Joel Ch. 1 verse 7 for further confirmation of God referring to Israel as His fig tree. The forward in the 1974 edition of Cruden's Concordance comes right out and declares that the fig tree is often a symbol of political Israel. The other trees mentioned in the parable are all other nations (for instance the prophesied revived Roman Empire, which we now have in the entity called the European Union). Prophetically this is the kingdom, which is to bring forth the Anti-Christ and the final 7 year Middle-East covenant of Dan. 9:26-27.

Nations have flourished to the extent that territorial claims now extend into the oceans and seas and even into the atmosphere. All recognizable countries prophesied to be in place at the close of the age are now in existence and can be found in their prophesied role down to the smallest detail.

Jesus said that the generation that saw Israel bud forth as a nation would witness the end of the age. He told one other generation that they would witness the destruction of Jerusalem. You can find this prophecy in Matt. Ch. 23:33-35. That generation of people saw the destruction prophesied by the Lord in 30 A.D. exactly 40 years later in 70 A.D. at the hands of the Roman Legion led by Titus.

Many prophecy teachers are of the opinion that although Israel was born again as the fig tree in 1948, it did not begin to bud with its restored life until the Jews recaptured Jerusalem in 1967. If Jesus was referring once again to a "Jerusalem witnessed" generation and the 40 years is once again applicable, then in theory the world will witness the rapture of the church, 7 years of tribulation and the physical return of Jesus Christ with all His Saints before the year 2007.

It is thought provoking to consider the God instituted holy year known as a 'Jubilee' found in Leviticus 25:8-10. After Israel was in the land for 7 sets of 7 years (49 years), on the 50th year they were to celebrate the 'Jubilee'. It was the year of liberty. Debts were to be forgiven, held lands were to be returned and slaves were to be set free. Many scholars believe the Jubilee of all Jubilees will take place among our calender years of 2005 through 2008...(that is the 50 sets of 50 year cycles since God instituted the Jubilee for Israel, while it was in the land, will come to a close). It is appropriately believed that the Lord would return on the hallowed Jubilee.

Pondering a pre 7 year tribulation rapture would require us to consider the years 2001, 2000, 1999 and this year of 1998. 1998 is a unique year for consideration because Israel is celebrating its 50th year since it became the prophesied fig tree nation once again on May 14, 1948. At the same time that Israel is celebrating this amazing milestone of a half century of survival, threats to its existence keep sounding alarms.

On April 23, '98, the Denver Post reported in an article, which headlined "Arab League pact takes a stand..." that..."the 22 members of the Arab League...signed an accord that stated they would not tolerate or support groups or individuals mounting attacks on other Arab countries. But the treaty excludes from its definition of "terrorism"...anti-Israel groups." So much for peace! Then, as incredulous as this may sound, because Israel is refusing to give up its territory, due to the risk to its security posed by terror-

Tribunal is only lacking a set of general principles by which to administer international law.

"...the ICC's authorizing statute 'should be one of principle and not of detail...' [It should] be a flexible statute based on principles which may be developed by the Court as circumstances require while still providing sufficient guidance to establish an international framework within which the Court can work... also... the ICC must be able to employ 'an element of compulsion' in order 'to redress gross violations of human rights and international law....'"

We know from Scripture that the Anti-christ will change TIMES and LAWS:
"And he shall speak great words against the most High, and shall wear out the saints of the most High, and think to change times and laws..."

(Dan.7:25)

The New Age must inaugurate a new calendar in recognition of the new Christ. Many of the mainframe computer systems of the world, those in use by most large institutions (banking, etc.) and by the government, were not originally programmed to recognize the year 2000. Rather than implementing solutions in a timely fashion, the U.S. government may be abetting the problem. The April 27 New York Times reported a tax law which prevents software professionals from setting up their own businesses, thereby creating a shortage of computer programmers. This scarcity of programmers will go far to insure failure to reprogram mainframe computers which need to become compliant before A.D. 2000. This report will be concerned, however, with the other aspect of the Anti-christ administration. The imposition of international law is currently the objective of a worldwide, multicultural and politically-oriented religious network that is working diligently to hasten mankind's departure from the Age of Grace and return to "The Law." Indeed, according to dispensational theology, the Age of Grace closes with the Rapture of the Church, commencing the 70th week of God's dealings with the nation of Israel and return to the Mosaic Law. (Dan. 9:27)

[cf. p.15 this issue]

The many-faceted movement to enforce an international code of law is demanding that entire nations submit to a set of principles variously termed the Noahide Laws, the Moral Law, Natural Laws, Universal Laws, etc. This would normally not concern ism, Israel's main ally the United States is making it known that some kind of break with Israel is in the immediate future. Hilary Clinton has now publicly made her stand against Israel in favor of the Palestinians. While in a May 10, '98 Denver Post article, which headlined "Clinton at turning point with Israel" it was reported that..."the president and his senior advisers have set a reluctant course of confrontation with Israel's premier." And that Secretary of State Madeleine Albright has "set Monday as the deadline for Netanyahu ... otherwise, she said, "we will have to re-examine our approach to the peace process". Backing that threat, according to administration officials, is a presidential decision ... declaring an end to active U.S. mediation..."

Over the last couple of years incredible alignments between celestial phenomena and sacred biblical days appointed by God have been noted a dramatic number of times each year. We believe, these alignments were divinely orchestrated, as a sign to Israel of impending judgement. Maybe this will be the year it will start or perhaps this will only be a year for reflection. In our opinion, it will be the former. The worst mistake in U.S.

history will be to side with Israel's enemies during these times.

God gave Israel 7 feasts to celebrate. The New Testament explains that these were a foreshadowing of events to come in the ministry of Christ (Col. 2:16-17). On each of the first four feasts at His first coming, Jesus demonstrated some obvious prophetic fulfillment for His Church on the very day the feasts were to be celebrated. First came the Passover, when Jesus, the Lamb of God, was crucified. Second came the Feast of Unleavened Bread, when Jesus the Bread of Life was buried. Third was the Feast of Firstfruits, when Jesus was resurrected. Then fourthly was the Feast of Pentecost, when the Holy Spirit was poured out on the Harvest of the Church. Many prophecy teachers feel that this feast has not been completely fulfilled yet due to the feasts two-part nature and that the Holy Spirit will relinquish His role as the restrainer of the Anti-Christ within the Church, when it is raptured during a future Pentecost (John 14:15-17 and 16:7-15. Matt. 5:13, James 4:7, Rev. 13:2, II Thess. 2:6-7, Eph. 1:13-14 and I Thess. 4:15-18). The next feast in sequence, also considered by many as a possible day God may rapture the Church, is the Feast of Trumpets (or Rosh Hashanah). The sixth feast is the Feast of Atonement, which many feel will be the day Jesus will return with His Church to the earth and lastly the 7th feast is the Feast of Tabernacles, when Jesus may set up His kingdom. If you should ever have an opportunity to study what each of these feasts stands for and what is done to celebrate them you would realize the feasts correspond perfectly with events past and future involving Jesus Christ and His work of redemption. For those who are curious about Pentecost and the Feast of Trumpets, they fall on Sunday May 31st and Monday September 21st. Before closing the door on this, think for a moment...why would God start fulfilling these feast days in such special ways, then suddenly stop for the ones remaining? Certainly He won't.

It really is time to believe in Jesus Christ for the forgiveness of your sins. Your chance for eternal life could be lost this very day. He is coming back soon for His own.

Christians, who are required under most circumstances to obey the laws of the higher authorities. However, this movement is not outside the pale of Christianity, but is subtly seeking to establish its legal framework within the Church, which is not under Law but under Grace. (Romans 6:14) It therefore behooves believers to avoid the trap of always looking "out there" for purveyors of the traditions of men. We find in Scripture that the apostle Paul gave this warning to the elders of the Church of Ephesus:

"Take heed therefore unto yourselves, and to all the flock, over the which the Holy Ghost hath made you overseers, to feed the church of God, which he hath purchased with his own blood. for I know this, that after my departing shall grievous wolves enter in among you, not sparing the flock. Also of your own selves shall men arise, speaking perverse things, to draw away disciples after them."

(Acts 20:28, 29)

THE HEBREW ROOTS OF CHRISTIANITY???

On March 4, Christian radio stations nationwide aired an address to the Council for National Policy by James Dobson, President of Focus on the Family. Expressing his determination to do whatever is necessary to restore the observance of "moral law," Dr. Dobson reasoned that, since God created Wisdom before He created anything else, the Moral Law is the law of the Universe. The identical appeal for nations to be governed by "natural law" and "moral law" has historically been made by the Orders of Freemasonry. This demand is also emanating from the worldwide Lubavitch movement, the Unification Church of Sun Myung Moon (which has close ties to the Council for National Policy), and the many groups represented within the CNP, such as Christian Reconstructionists, Moral Re-Armament, Knights of Malta, Opus Dei, etc. The insidious legalism and Kabbalism of the Lubavitch movement has also entered the Church under the guise of the "Hebrew Roots of Christianity." It is the purpose of this series to examine a vast network of religious organizations and movements whose common cause is bringing Christians into spiritual bondage to the Law and the Babylonian traditions which were appended to the Torah.

THE LUBAVITCH MOVEMENT

On the University of Calgary web site, the pages of Associate Professor of Theology, Dr. Eliezer Segal, present much information about ancient and modern Judaism. One of the modern schools of Judaic philosophy is Chabad-Lubavitch Hasidism, which Dr. Segal describes as Kabbalist movement:

http://www.acs.ucalgary.ca/~elsegal/363_Transp/Orthodoxy/Chabad.html

"The name 'Chabad' is a Hebrew acronym for the expression 'Chokmah,' 'Binah' and 'Da'at' -- Wisdom, Intelligence and Knowledge. These Kabbalistic terms are central to the distinctive intellectual theology of the movement... The name Lubavitch refers to a town in Lithuania that was the centre of the movement for a brief period during the nineteenth century ... Chabad Hasidism continued to be a major force among Russian and Lithuanian Jews from its inception..."

"In 1940 the head of the movement Rabbi Joseph Isaac Schneerson moved to America from Russia. From the outset he expressed his determination to make the Lubavitch movement into an American religious movement (e.g., by abandoning the traditional European long frocks in favour of American-style dress)."

Chabad-Lubavitch is now an international movement with headquarters in New York. The American Friends of Chabad Lubavitch in Washington, D.C. coordinates activities for Chabad on Capital Hill, lobbies for Chabad causes, and runs study groups and social programs geared towards congressional staffers. In 1991, Chabad-Lubavitch in cooperation with President Bush established the observance of Education Day, USA "to return the world to the moral and ethical values contained in the Seven Noahide Laws." (<http://watch.pair.com/rapture.htm>).

PUBLIC LAW 102--14 (H.J. RES. 104):

March 20, 1991 Education Day, USA Proclamation Joint Resolution to designate March 26, 1991 as "Education Day, USA"

Whereas Congress recognizes the historical tradition of ethical values and principles which are the basis of civilized society and upon which our great Nation was founded;

Whereas these ethical values and principles have been the bedrock of society from the dawn of civilization, when they were known as the Seven Noahide Laws;

Whereas without these ethical values and principles the edifice of civilization stands in serious peril of returning to chaos;

Whereas society is profoundly concerned with the recent weakening of these principles that has resulted in crises that beleaguer and threaten the fabric of civilized society;

Whereas the justified preoccupation with these crises must not let the citizens of this Nation lose sight of their responsibility to transmit these ethical values from our distinguished past to the generations of the future;

Whereas the Lubavitch movement has fostered and promoted these ethical values and principles throughout the world;

Whereas Rabbi Menachem Mendel Schneerson, leader of the Lubavitch movement, is universally respected and revered and his eighty-ninth birthday falls on March 26, 1991;

Whereas in tribute to this great spiritual leader, "the rebbe", this, his ninetyeth year will be seen as one of "education and giving", the year in which we turn to education and charity to return the world to the moral and ethical values contained in the Seven Noahide Laws; and

Whereas this will be reflected in an international scroll of honor signed by the President of the United States and other heads of state:

Now, therefore be it Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That March 26, 1991, the start of the ninetieth year of Rabbi Menachem Schneerson, leader of the worldwide Lubavitch movement, is designated as "Education Day, U.S.A.". The President is requested to issue a proclamation calling upon the people of the United States to observe such day with appropriate ceremonies and activities.

Approved March 20, 1991.

TRADITIONAL JEWISH INSTITUTIONS ARE KABBALAH!

The doctrines of the Lubavitch Movement are derived from the Kabbalah, the source book of Jewish mysticism or Gnosticism. The ENCYCLOPEDIA OF RELIGION states that the Lubavitch Hasidic interpretation of the Lurianic system of Kabbalah is among those taught in traditional Jewish institutions:

"The dominant brand of Qabbalah in the modern Qabbalistic Yeshivot (traditional Jewish academies) is the Lurianic system. It is studied according to the interpretations offered by Mosheh Hayyim Luzzatto, by Eliyahu ben Shelomoh Aalman, by Habad, the Lubavitch Hasidic Movement and by the Sefardic Qabbalists of the Beit El Academy in Jerusalem."

The "Lurianic system" of Kabbalah was developed by Rabbi Luria (Ari). The Inner Dimension web site states:

"Ari is an acronym for 'The Divine Rabbi Isaac [Luria]' (1534-1572), who received and conveyed revolutionary new insights into the wisdom of Kabbalah."

(<http://www.virtual.co.il/orgs/orgs/inner/glossary/rabbis/rabisman.htm#Ari>)

THEOSOPHISTS!

Rabbi Luria is identified by the ENCYCLOPEDIA OF RELIGION as the most influential of the Kabbalist/Theosophists:

"The success of Luria's thought was instantaneous:

his theosophy was accepted unanimously . . . and his Qabbalah was regarded as superior to the Cordoverian system."

H.P. Blavatsky traces the Kabbalah to the ancient mysteries of Babylon and Egypt:

"As is well known, the Kabala never originated with the Jews, who got their ideas from the Chaldeans and the Egyptians."

(THE SECRET DOCTRINE, VOL. II, P. 240)

THE SECRET BOOK OF THE EGYPTIAN Gnostics claims that the sacred BOOK OF THE CAVE OF TREASURES is alleged to contain the secret teachings that were written by Adam who, prior to his interment in Persia, transmitted them to Noah. According to the Gnostic tradition, "nascent Christianity" commingled with Zoroastrianism and the commands of Adam to Noah were preserved in Persia for the generations to come:

"The principle work in which ...all these traditions became synchrotized was The Book of the Cave of Treasures...It puts all these revelations into the mouth of Adam as the first of a long series of prophets, who predicts how the Magi will await the announcement of the Saviour, near this cave in which Adam himself will have been interred, and where the Treasures are concealed which the Magi will carry to Bethlehem..."

"In The Book of the Cave of Treasures ...let us quote from it these lines, supposedly spoken by the Magi: Adam imparted revelations to his son Seth...he recommended his son Seth never to fail in justice as he Adam had done. Seth welcomed the teaching of his father with a pure heart and it was given to him to inscribe this wisdom in a book and to teach it...And thanks to him, for the first time in this world, there was seen a book written in the name of the Most High. Seth bequeathed to his descendants the book thus written, and that book was handed down even to Noah...(who) took with him into the Ark the books of these teachings. .. He ordained in his turn that the generation that came after him were to repeat...the mysteries in the books of Seth...These mysteries and this narrative were handed down even to our fathers...who passed them on to us."

(JEAN DORESSE, 1986, P. 198, 184)

THE ENCYCLOPEDIA OF JUDAISM LOCATES THE NOAHIDE LAWS IN THE TALMUD BAVLI, THE BABYLONIAN TALMUD.

[NOTE ON THE BABYLONIAN TALMUD (T.B.): The following statement is representative Jewish scholarship:

"There are two editions of the Talmud, the Jerusalem Talmud and the Babylonian Talmud. Of these two, the Babylonian Talmud is authoritative for Orthodox Judaism, which regards it as divinely inspired ... The superiority of the Babylonian Talmud is so great, that when people now talk about the Talmud, they always mean the Babylonian Talmud. The authority of the Babylonian Talmud is also greater than that of the Jerusalem Talmud. In cases of doubt the former is decisive."

(PG. 40, TORAH TO KABBALAH, BY R.C. MUSAPH-ANDRIESSE, NEW YORK, OXFORD UNIVERSITY, PRESS, 1982.)

UFO INTRUSION?

Two Christians, subscribers to Despatch, living on the Sunshine Coast, have reported a strange happening recently. They were in their home having a normal evening together, when a bright light appeared over their house. They went outside to investigate, and found that the light was flashing off and on. There was no noise, no plane or helicopter. The light interfered with the electricity in the house for two hours. Then it was gone. The couple were alarmed, as there were reports in the area of Crop Circle activity.

Dr David Allan Lewis, Christian investigator of the UFO phenomenon writes as a warning:

"In dealing with the mystery of UFOs, we are not on the lunatic fringe of theology. Instead we stand on your behalf on the front line of battle. We are in defensive warfare at a major point of an assault on humanity. We are engaged in a 'War of the Worlds,' the world of Satan and his demonic hordes against the kingdom of God."

(UFO ENDTIME DELUSION, P.24).

Dr Lewis warns that Christians might well be approached by ETs in the Last Days, in order to seek verification from them that the ETs are "good" and from God.

Do not have anything to do with these spiritual entities, they DO exist and they are supernatural. Stand fast in the victory that Christ has already won over them on the Cross, and command them to depart on the ground of His shed Blood.

disobedience:

"One additional element of greater severity is that violation of any one of the seven laws subjects the Noahide to capital punishment by decapitation. (Sanh. 57A)"

The Chabad Lubavitch in Cyberspace provides the following information on the Noahide Laws:

THE SEVEN NOAHIDE LAWS - A GUIDE FOR MANKIND.

IN DEPTH LOOK AT THE SEVEN NOAHIDE LAWS

<http://www.chabad.org/gopher/outlook/>

[THE NOAHIDE LAWS PROHIBITS THE WORSHIP OF JESUS CHRIST - THIS WOULD BE A CRIME DESERVING THE DEATH PENALTY].

It has been pointed out that the second Noahide Law which prohibits blasphemy will preclude the worship of Jesus Christ, who was once accused of this very crime by the Sanhedrin. Moses Maimonides (Rabbi Moshe Ben Maimon - 1138—1204), better known as the Rambam, is universally recognized for his preeminence as a Jewish philosopher and thinker. His influence remains unabated until the present time. Maimonides classic work, Mishnah Torah, opens with a section on systematic philosophical theology, derived largely from Aristotelian science and metaphysics.

Maimonides Mishnah Torah, in Chapter 10 of the English Translation, states concerning Jesus Christ:

"It is a mitzvah [religious duty; ARC], however, to eradicate Jewish traitors, minnim, and apikorsim, and to cause them to descend to the pit of destruction, since they cause difficulty to the Jews and sway the people away from God, as did Jesus of Nazareth and his students, and Tzadok, Baithos, and their students. May the name of the wicked rot." (pg. 184)

The Mishnah is the early Talmud or the forerunner of the Talmud. To the Mishnah the rabbis later added the Gemara (rabbinical commentaries). Together these comprise the Talmud. Scholars will claim that the Talmud is partly a collection of oral traditions given by Moses which had not yet been written down in Jesus' time. However, Christ condemned the traditions of the Mishnah (early Talmud) and the Scribes and Pharisees who taught it, because the Talmud nullifies the teachings of Scripture. The warning of Jesus Christ about the traditions of men that make null and void the Word of God (Mark 7:1-13) is a direct reference to the Mishnah.

Likewise, the commands found in Genesis 9 and Acts 15 are not equivalent to the 7 Noahide Laws of the Kabbalist/Lubavitchers, nor does the context in which these commands appear have any correlation to the radical agenda of the movement promoting the Noahide Laws. The information I will be posting on the Kabbalistic movements within Judaism does NOT implicate true orthodox Judaism as a component of the Antichrist religion. Rather, MYSTERY BABYLON of Revelation 17 will consist of the vast network of Mystery Religions covering the globe, of which many seek to identify with Judaism and Christianity as a covering for their sin.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH INFILTRATED BY MODERN JUDAIZERS.

In the course of this series, it will be seen that the Christian Church has been infiltrated by modern Judaizers who would commit believers to various obligations of their particular system of legalism. For those who would be His disciples, however, Jesus Christ enunciated the greatest commandments which encompassed all the Law and the Prophets:

"Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind... Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thy self."
